

OUR PRIVACY POLICY

COUPLES FOR CHRIST IRELAND ("CFC Ireland") respects and is committed to the privacy of its members and anyone accessing this website.

We take extra efforts to protect our members' information and of those accessing this website and we use our mailing lists exclusively and are not available for sale to others. CFC Ireland ("we," "us" or "our") provides the CFC Ireland website to you. This Privacy Policy applies to the collection of personal information by CFC Ireland through www.couplesforchristireland.org and any sub-domains thereof (each of which constituting a part of the website). When you use our website, you acknowledge that you have read and understood the terms and conditions of this Privacy Policy. If you do not agree to the herein terms and conditions, please do not proceed to use this website.

Disclosure to Third Parties

There may be instances when some personal information will be shared with select third parties to make our communication to our members more targeted. CFC Ireland may collect your personal information, including name, email address, mailing address, phone number or other information that you voluntarily provide (e.g., when contacting us or when sending prayer request). Some information about your computer hardware/software may also be collected including your IP address, browser type, domain names, access times and referring website addresses. CFC Ireland may use these pieces of information in connection with a transaction or contract, like in processing payment-related transactions, in making the CFC Ireland website work, and in providing the services and goods expected from the CFC Ireland website; also, to verify your identity, enhance the functionality of this website, monitor access to website, respond to users, advise you of updates or services from CFC Ireland, and fulfil transactions or contracts made with you. Your information is collected when you give your consent, or for purposes required under law or regulations or when responding to government requests, a court of law or law enforcement authorities doing an investigation. CFC Ireland will retain your personal information for as long as is necessary to provide the services to you and to comply with legal obligations.

Collection and Use of Information from Children

Consistent with the requirements of the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA), CFC Ireland does not knowingly request or solicit personal information from anyone under the age of 13 without prior verifiable parental consent, and so does not intentionally collect personal information from children in violation of COPPA. However, if CFC Ireland receives actual knowledge that it has collected such personal information without the requisite and verifiable parental consent, CFC Ireland will delete that information from the Website as quickly as is reasonably practical.

Cookies and Other Tracking Technologies

As with other Internet sites, our web servers use “cookies” to track a user’s activity within our site as well as record the IP address of each visitor to this site. A “cookie” is a small piece of data that is sent to your web browser from CFC Ireland’s web server (or a third-party server hosting content published to the website) and is stored on your computer’s hard drive. Cookies are used to collect information about website users to make their web-surfing more convenient (e.g., by saving your passwords or personal preferences and to ensure that not the same adds are repeatedly shown on your computer screen). We, or third parties, may use session cookies (i.e., cookies that only last for the duration of your website visit and are removed upon closing your browser) and persistent cookies (i.e., those remaining on your computer’s hard drive unless you delete them, or they expire). Different cookies function differently.

Analytics cookies are also used to analyse your interaction with our website and help improve your use of the website. You may opt out of this type of data collection and disable cookies in your web browser. Disabling cookies may however diminish one’s experience of visited websites.

The following are the purposes for our use of the information we collect from users of our website during their visits:

- i.) to provide you information from our website and relevant services;
- ii.) to respond to user inquiries and/or requests;
- iii.) to process donation transactions and user-requested information or service;
- iv.) to improve the experience of our website users;
- v.) to carry out marketing and fundraising activities; and
- vi.) for such other purposes as the information could be legitimately used.

Sometimes, third-party service providers are used to send out our advertisements and announcements (flyers, video ads) over the Internet, or to carry out cross-media advertising or announcements via email or direct mail. Such providers may collect non-personally identifiable information from your use of our website or from your interaction with us. Such providers have their own privacy policies that should apply to their own method of collecting or using your information and so our Privacy Policy does not apply to their use of your information. Such providers may be members of the Network Advertising Initiative (“NAI”) and so to exclude yourself from any or all NAI member advertising programs, you may visit the NAI opt-out page for that purpose. In the alternative, if you wish to opt out of this type of data collection, you can disable cookies in your web browser. Please note that disabling cookies may diminish a user’s experience of the website, including the website of CFC Ireland.

In some cases, our site uses securely encrypted input or donation response forms or prayer wall forms for users who choose to use these forms to provide information, request information, and make donations/give tithes. We collect your voluntarily submitted contact information, unique identifiers (in some cases, a donor or tithes giver account number), and credit card information (such as a credit card type, number, and expiration date). Contact information from these response forms is used to process donations/tithes, as well as to provide receipts and other information about CFC Ireland. The user's contact information is also used to get in touch with the user, if needed, to resolve any program or website issues or questions. Users may readily opt out of receiving future communications; see the "opt out" and "modifying your information" sections below. Financial information that is collected is used to bill the user for donations or tithes pledged. Unique identifiers (such as a CFC Ireland account number) may be collected from website visitors to assist in matching current donation/tithes information with giving history in our record systems.

Opting Out

If you no longer want CFC Ireland to use your personal information you can request that such information be deleted by contacting us at howcanwehelp@coupleforchristireland.org; however CFC Ireland will retain such information as is necessary for its legitimate business needs. You will have to reach out to the person mentioned above if you have questions about CFC Ireland's privacy practices.

CFC Ireland encourages you to review the privacy statements of websites you choose to link to/from CFC Ireland so you can understand how those websites collect, use and share your information. CFC Ireland is not responsible for the privacy statements or other content on websites outside of the CFC Ireland websites, or the websites to which CFC Ireland has linked, such as YouTube, and the sites hosting videos.

If you wish to opt out of third-party data sharing, please contact us at <https://www.coupleforchristireland.org> and opt-out of data sharing there.

On credit card information, once we receive your credit card information, only small number of trusted CFC Ireland admin staff will have access to it and they have been trained to process this information. This site contains links to other non-CFC Ireland sites. CFC Ireland is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such websites.

Removing or Modifying Your Information

For removal of information from our core database, unsubscribing from most marketing communications in the future, opting out of third-party data sharing, or for changing or modifying information previously provided please contact us at howcanwehelp@coupleforchristireland.org. Or you can also send us postal mail at COUPLES FOR CHRIST IRELAND, Dublin, Ireland.

Your Referral Help

CFC Ireland may offer features which allow you to inform an individual about our mission. If you chose to use our referral features, we will ask you for your referral's email address or in some cases mailing address, to send them either an electronic or paper communication inviting them to participate in our ministry. We will store this information for the sole purpose of sending this email or paper communication and tracking the success of these efforts to expand the reach of our work. If you choose to participate in our referral programs, you represent and warrant that you have a personal relationship with your referral and that you are authorized to share their information with CFC Ireland for the purpose of sending this invitation to them.
